Mr. Lui graduated with a Bachelor of Social Science in Economics from the Chinese University of Hong Kong.

Thoughts from Mr. Lui:

Studying economics requires a critical mindset. Economics is the study of human behaviour given certain assumptions. To understand the theories, you have to examine the logic behind them. More importantly, you need to try to explain real world phenomenon with different theories that you have learnt. Accounting and economics are closely related to each other and they are essential to our daily life. I am interested in accounting. As a fresh graduate, I am currently searching for an elementary accounting job so as to obtain more experience in this field. My career goal is to become a partner of a CPA firm.
