Financial instrument standards not only create new practices to financial institutions, but also have significant implications for all large to small sized companies having financial instruments, which include receivables and cash. To add to the complication, many amendments and new standards and interpretations have been continuously introduced, including HKFRS 7. In view of the new amendments of HKAS 39 in the past few months and debate on the fair value accounting, the seminar aims at providing a recap and update on financial assets and reclassification of financial assets under HKAS 39. Update on new requirements of HKAS 7 will also be addressed.

To enroll, please complete the enrolment form together with payment to the HKIAAT before Friday, 17 July 2009.
